PREFACE

The American Association of Nurserymen (AAN) and the National Association of Plant Patent Owners (NAPPO) are pleased to present the Plant Patent Directory as a service to plant breeders, patent attorneys, the horticulture industry and the general public. This directory covers plant patents granted by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) from 1931 through 1989.

Although great care was used to compile this data from documents and sources believed to be reliable, the information contained herein spans several decades. As a result, we cannot guarantee the accuracy of the information contained herein. For instance, prior to the adoption of more standardized nomenclature rules, the historical use of denominations was varied by the PTO and the horticulture industry. Such use sometimes included cultivars, common names, fancy or brand names.

One should also exercise special care in looking up "plant types" in this directory due to possible idiosyncrasies in name variance noted in the original patents as granted. For example, if one is searching for apple in this directory, it may be found under "apple," "apple tree," "apple rootstock" or "apple tree-columnar." Similarly, strawberry may be listed under "strawberry" or "strawberry plant." And as a final example, amelanchier may be found under "amelanchier," "amelanchier tree," "amelanchier canadensis" or "amelanchier grandiflora." There are many such instances found in this directory.

In addition, this directory may not reflect amendments to the original patents granted. Therefore, the information contained in this directory must not be considered necessarily current unless confirmation (e. g. title examinations) is secured with the PTO, the plant patent owners and/or its assignees.

Any propagation, marketing or sale of patented plant varieties prior to the expiration of their respective patents -- without permission of the current patent owners and/or assignees -- constitutes infringement. This subjects the infringer to liability for damages under United States patent laws. Plant patents expire at the end of 17 years from the date granted by the PTO.

The Plant Patent Directory has been prepared for the reader's maximum utility and ease of reference. It contains five separate tables. It is suggested that the reader familiarize himself with the Table of Contents for the various tables and their cross-references. When no information is noted, such was not readily available.

A brief explanation of the terms employed herein is useful at this juncture. The term "patent number" refers to the sequential number assigned by the PTO. These numbers follow a chronological sequence. The term "date" refers to the actual calendar date when the patent was granted by the PTO. For reasons noted above, the term "plant" in this directory can mean family, plant type, or a subgroup in a plant type. (For example: rose; floribunda rose; hybrid tea rose; miniature rose). The term "denomination" is addressed above. The term "originator" refers to the individual, who is noted by the PTO at the time the patent was granted, as having originated that denomination. The term "assignee" refers to the individual or firm, which is noted by the PTO at the time the patent was granted, as holding the rights to that patent.

Neither AAN nor NAPPO may be held responsible or liable in any way for any omissions or inaccuracies with respect to this directory, or the information contained herein, or for any actions resulting therefrom. Any additional information or corrections related to the data contained in this directory should be addressed to: Plant Patent Directory, 1250 I Street, N. W., Suite 500, Washington, D. C. 20005. Such corrections will appear in the next edition of this directory.

PREFACE

The American Association of Nurserymen (AAN) and the National Association of Plant Patent Owners (NAPPO) are pleased to present the Plant Patent Directory 1977 - 1996. We want to ensure that plant breeders, patent attorneys, the horticulture industry and the public are kept current on plant patents granted by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (PTO).

This supplement provides a numerical listing of patents granted during the period beginning January 1, 1977 through December 31, 1996; an alphabetical listing by plant type; and, an alphabetical listing by cultivar. The patent number is the sequential number assigned by the PTO. The term "granted" refers to the actual calendar date when the patent was granted by the PTO. The term "filed" refers to the actual calendar date when the patent application was first filed with the PTO. The term "plant" in this book can mean family, genus, or a common name plant type or subgroup of a plant type (for example, rose, floribunda rose, hybrid tea rose, miniature rose). The term "denomination" may refer to cultivar, common name or fancy or brand name. "Originator" refers to the individual, who is noted by the PTO at the time the patent was granted, as having originated that plant. The "assignee" is the individual or firm, noted by the PTO at the time the patent was granted, as holding the rights to that patent.

Special Note on Patent Terms

Due to recent changes in U.S. patent law, the expiration dates of all plant patents currently in force may have changed. The new rules are summarized below:

1) For plant patents which issued on applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, the patent term will be 20 years, measured from the date of first filing of an application with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

2) For patents which were already in force on June 8, 1995, or resulted from an application filed prior to that date, the patent term will be 20 years from the date of first filing, or 17 years from the date of issue, whichever is longer.

This directory now features filing date information for most patents issued since 1978.

Neither AAN nor NAPPO may be held responsible or liable in any way for any omissions or inaccuracies with respect to this directory, or the information contained herein, or for any actions resulting therefrom. Any additional information, corrections or questions related to the data contained in this directory should be addressed to:

PREFACE

The American Nursery & Landscape Association (ANLA) and the National Association of Plant Patent Owners (NAPPO) are pleased to present the Plant Patent Directory -- 1997 Supplement. We want to ensure that plant breeders, patent attorneys, the horticulture industry and the general public are kept current on plant patents granted by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (PTO).

This supplement provides a numerical listing of patents granted during 1997, an alphabetical listing by plant type, and an alphabetical listing by cultivar denomination for all plant patents granted during 1997. The patent number is the sequential number assigned by the PTO. The term "granted" refers to the actual calendar date when the patent was granted by the PTO. The term "filed" refers to the actual calendar date when the patent application was filed with the PTO. The term "plant" in this book can mean family, genus, or a common name plant type or subgroup of a plant type (for example, rose, floribunda rose, hybrid tea rose, miniature rose). The term "denomination" may refer to cultivar, common name or fancy or brand name. "Originator" refers to the individual, who is noted by the PTO at the time the patent was granted, as having originated that plant. The "assignee" is the individual or firm, noted by the PTO at the time the patent was granted, as holding the rights to that patent.

Neither ANLA nor NAPPO may be held responsible or liable in any way for any omissions or inaccuracies with respect to this directory, or the information contained herein, or for any actions resulting therefrom. Any additional information or corrections related to the data contained in this directory should be addressed to: Plant Patent Directory--1997 Supplement, c/o NAPPO, 1250 I Street NW, Suite 500, Washington, DC 20005. Any such corrections will appear in subsequent issues of this Directory.

To order the 20-Year Plant Patent Directory, which covers plant patents granted by the PTO from 1977 - 1996, or the entire Plant Patent Directory on CD-ROM, covering patents issued from 1931 - 1997, contact NAPPO at the above address.

Special Note on Patent Terms

Due to recent changes in U.S. patent law, the expiration dates of all plant patents currently in force may have changed. The new rules are summarized below:

1) For plant patents which issued on applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, the patent term will be 20 years, measured from the date of first filing of an application with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

2) For patents which were already in force on June 8, 1995, or resulted from an application filed prior to that date, the patent term will be 20 years from the date of first filing, or 17 years from the date of issue, whichever is longer.
